WHY SUFFER SO?

Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills? Norway people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor. Could you ask for stronger proof of merit?

Albert P. Prescott, shoemaker, Crockett Bridge, Norway, says: "My kidneys gave out and I had backache so badly it put me past going for several days. I couldn't bend, I was so stiff and lame. I was working in the ship yards at the time and I blame so much heavy lifting for the trouble. I had to get up several times during the night to pass the kidney secretions and I felt drowsy all the time. Finally I went to Stone's Drug Store and got Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. Doan's reached my case at once and after using three boxes, the trouble left entirely. I have felt fine since."

NATURE BEAUTIES

Nature, beauties, nature beauties. Everywhere our eyes can see; Over the sea and in the sky, Everything is fair to see. Nature is the world's great painter, She can paint the woods in autumn, As no other hand could do it. Nature, beauties in the summer, Growing round us everywhere, In the dale, and on the mountain, We can then admire everywhere. Sweet wild flowers blooming round us, And their fragrance fills the air, All the world is full of brightness, Nature beauties everywhere.

Looking in the heavens above us We can see God's beauties there, Shining in the sky forever, In His rainbow bright and fair, And the stars so true and faithful, Watching o'er us from afar, Guiding us to home and heaven, Where God's beauties ever are.

—MRS. VIOLA HERRICK,
R. F. D. 2, West Paris, Maine.

DON'T QUIT
When things go wrong, as they sometimes will, When the road you're traveling seems all uphill, When the funds are low, and the debts are high, And you want to smile, but you have to sigh, When care is pressing you down a bit, Rest if you must, but don't quit.

Life is queer with its twists and turns, As every one of us sometimes learns, And many a failure turns about, When he might have won had he stuck it out; When he might have found the pace was slow, A man may succeed with another blow.

Often the goal is nearer than It seems to a faint and faltering man, Often the struggler has given up, When he might have captured the victor's cup, And he learned too late, when the night slipped down,

How close he was to the golden crown, Success is failure turned inside out— The silver tint of the clouds of doubt, And you can never tell how close you are, May be just a little way to the goal, So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit— It's when things seem worst that you mustn't quit.

A NATION'S HOPE
Who are the men of tomorrow? Seek ye the boys of today! Follow the plow and the harrow; Look where they make the hay. Talk with the cows from the pasture; Seek out the smallest of lambs. Try when you hear the thrasher, Humming in the early morn. Are the men of the morrow? Look at your sturdy boys now. A nation's hope for the future Lives with the boy on the farm.

MAKE FARM WOOD LOTS PROFITABLE
Speaking of the needs and opportunities in Maine for more profitable handling of farm woodlots, Mr. E. Watson, forestry specialist of the College of Agriculture extension service, says, approximately 45 per cent. of uncultivated land, much of which could be put to growing trees. Those who study the situation have observed that woodlands and forest areas in farm ownership are lessening while the area in waste land is increasing. How to make such land productive is a big problem, for the future timber supply of the country must be largely produced by the farmer.

The woodlot products are valuable to the farmer from two general standpoints. They furnish an important source of revenue and supply him with a large part of the wood that he needs for home use. At present the average farm forest is not profitable because of improper management. Forest weeds or worthless trees are allowed to occupy the space or hinder the growth of commercial varieties.

Extension work in farm forestry aims to solve this situation by developing a program to have every farm woodlot so managed that it will be a profitable portion of the farm operation each year, and to enlarge the total forest area by the reforestation of all suitable non-agricultural lands.

From the experience gained in the last decade through a state-wide plan for forestry agricultural instruction to farmers, there is a good reason to expect good financial results by applying this system to woodlot management. With agricultural agents in all of the counties of the state, whose duty it is to bring to the aid of the farmers special knowledge covering their problems, there is no reason to doubt that the woodlot can be put on a profitable basis.

MODERN ROADS AS ADVERTISING
The cost of building and maintaining good roads seems so great that many taxpayers are inclined to lie down, and say they simply can't be afforded. Yet before taking that attitude, it is well to reflect on the returns that a good road brings.

The news that a certain town or district has good roads spreads for many miles around. Motorists drive that way when out for pleasure, or will call in that direction when seeking a trading center. They will go many miles out of their way if they can strike a good road into some business center.

The convenience and comfort of a good road is thus a magnet that draws trade and business that spreads prosperity into the surrounding country. It makes a town seem like a live one. The streets of its business center are well filled with visitors, while a town with poor gutting roads finds visitors going elsewhere. It costs something to solve the good roads problem, but it costs more not to.

A Strictly Cash Shoe Store

For a long time I have had under consideration a change from credit to a cash store. I have hesitated in regard to this step for I have always had a large number of first class credit customers who have stood by this store for years and their trade and influence has been a great help to us and we surely do appreciate the business that has come to us in the 33 years that I have been selling shoes, and we have also had during all this time a very large business from those who have always paid cash. We have always tried to use both classes alike and to so treat them that they would want to continue to do business with us. Our business has grown from a small beginning to a very respectable output each year, but we have found that as trade has increased our accounts have also grown in proportion, until they became burdensome and have required a lot of attention and have caused a lot of care and anxiety, and for that reason we have changed to a strictly cash basis, and we are very positive that it will be better, much better, for our customers as well as ourselves.

Our prices are less, our service is better. Anything we sell that is not satisfactory will be made right and we always refund the money when goods are returned to us in good condition. We will do anything that is in our power to please our customers, but we must insist that all goods shall be sold for cash to both rich and poor. We have no favorites everyone will be used the same.

Our slogan is, "Our Terms are Cash, We Sell for Less" and remember that we always have a splendid line of reliable footwear. We are expert shoe fitters and also make a specialty of Dr. Scholl's Arch Props and foot specialties, if you have foot troubles, bring them to us we can help you.

We also have a first class repair department; bring your old shoes, we can rebuild them and make them as good as new. Our store is open Monday and Saturday evenings, closes other nights at 6:15.

FRYBURG FAIR

Just arrived from the Fryburg Fair, folks all came from, don't know where, through of youth and maidens, horses all looked fairly neat, stepped their best at every heat. But there wasn't no John R. Bradens. Grange exhibit, I'll say was good, darn fine pulling, I've understood, and poultry, the best in Maine, too, delicious a salad by. But though I searched and scanned the sky, there wasn't no aeroplane. Band played music rather happy, Merry-go-round made the kids all happy, I didn't see for many a year, I hadn't seen for many a year, But there wasn't no special 'tractions, The ball game went the full nine rounds, Couldn't blame the boys for faulty grounds, And some of the plays were stellar, The kiddos teased for my last cent, I scattered home when all was spent, I ain't no 'Rocky-feller'.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST CANCER

Maine's third annual campaign against cancer began Monday, October 15, according to an announcement by the Maine Public Health Association. The campaign consisted largely of wide distribution of certain well established facts about this disease and particularly the importance of early discovery and proper treatment of cancer if life is to be spared. In eight years—1915 to 1922 inclusive—7,012 Maine men and women have fallen victims of this dread disease. In 1915 the number of Maine cancer deaths was 311. In 1922 the number had increased to 962.

Committees of the Maine Public Health Association and the Maine Medical Association, both headed by Dr. E. H. Risley of Waterville, began in 1921 a vigorous campaign of education against this disease in an effort to stem the constant increasing number of deaths in Maine. A standard lecture which has been approved by the American Society for the Control of Cancer, has been prepared and has been mailed to every physician in Maine. This lecture is written in simple language but it contains much valuable information which will enable any adult to learn the causes of cancer, it explains the early symptoms of the disease and points out how hundreds of lives in Maine can be spared if certain things are done before the cancer has had an opportunity to develop.

Dr. Wm. T. Rowe of Rumford is chairman of a committee in Oxford County to handle the campaign against the disease in this section. Women's clubs, lodges, granges and all other organizations are urged by the Maine Public Health Association to invite any of their local physicians to address them on this very important subject.

PROFITS OF EXTENSION SERVICE

Data just completed by R. H. Lovejoy and Miss Martha Sanborn, Extension Service Agents in Oxford County, shows total net profits above $50,000.00 in consequence of demonstrations and meetings they have conducted during the past year. Approximately 1000 men and women have cooperated in the various projects of the extension program. In the crops work 350 tons of lime, 1500 bushels of certified seed potatoes, and twenty tons of chemicals have been used by 506 demonstrators and co-operators. Their reports show additional net profits of $12,250.00. In point of total profits, however, the orchard project is the most successful. 175 demonstrators and co-operators fertilized approximately 40,000 apple trees, and sufficient reports are in to indicate over $25,000.00 coming from this fertility work. H. L. Bisbee, a demonstrator in Sumner, has reported 200 barrels of apples from his fertilized trees, whereas the unfertilized ones of the same variety, and number yielded only 40 barrels, an increase of 160 barrels as a result of only two years fertilization. J. M. Wynne of Norway, and many others, report similar returns. The club and poultry divisions returned to the county slightly over $5000.00 in profits, while much was accomplished with farm management problems through the 150 dairy, poultry and general farm accounts kept by co-operators. E. A. Barker of Bethel is the county project leader in this division.

In the women's department dresses, hats, foundation patterns, and fireless cookers, valued at over $3000.00, have been made at meetings, and much time has been devoted to health work with particular emphasis on the relation of food to health. There are 348 women members of the farm bureau in 21 communities. The total membership in the county has increased from 264 to 822 in three years and there is prospect of a considerable increase this year.

The extension office at South Paris, employing only one full time clerk, has sent out over 25,000 pieces of mail matter the past year. The agents plan to spend Monday and Saturday in the office each week in order to give prompt attention to correspondence and other necessary office business.

JOURNAL OF MAINE HISTORY

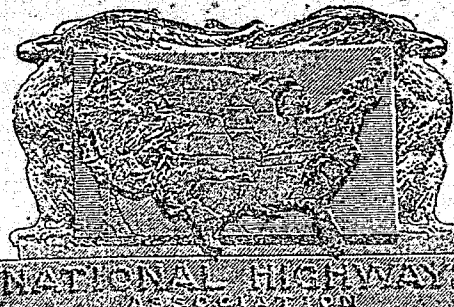

The third quarterly number of Sprague's Journal of Maine History is at hand and we note that constant improvements are being made in this worthy publication. It has increased in size and is beautifully illustrated. Its first article, Editor Sprague's article on "Maine Forestry and Wild Life," delivered at Squaw Mt. Inn, July 13, 1923, should be read by every citizen of our state. There is also a continuation of articles by Prof. W. O. Sawtelle in his research work on the ancient history of the Maine Desert Region, with an announcement that there is forthcoming from this talented historian more upon this same subject. The March of Benedict Arnold Through Maine, the editorial notes, the school department conducted by A. O. Thomas, Maine's Commissioner of Education, and other articles all valuable also appear here.

Send $2.00 to John F. Sprague, Dover, Foxcroft, and have it sent for a year. It is worth it.

GUIDE BOARDS NEEDED

Sign boards are needed along the highway to guide the strangers. We have come to a time now when there is more travel than in years past and good, plain, substantial guide boards are needed at every intersecting road. Where these guide boards are, the traveler can easily find his way and journey in peace, but strike a town where the guides are unknown and the traveler is at sea with no end of questioning.

From a small boy: "When mother is sick at night, she tries not to wake the rest of us. When dad gets sick, he keeps the rest of us and everybody in the yard awake all night. He had the stomachache the other night, but because I fell asleep he said I didn't care a whoop for him."

GOOD ROADS A PUBLIC NECESSITY

Every man, woman, and child in the United States has a personal interest in good roads.

The farmer and the motorist have the most immediate and practical interest, but the interest of others is no less vital that it expresses an indirect relation. The farmer wants good roads because he can make more money with good roads than with poor roads. If the farmer can make more money, he spends more, which means greater prosperity for the whole Nation. And if he can do with less money, good roads enable him to sell his products for less and still make as much as at present; that means lower prices for food.

Everyone who lives in a rural or suburban location is interested in good roads, because they decrease the time and distance which separates the rural or suburban home from the city. Every rural or suburban dweller needs to get to the city sometimes; the less the distance the less it costs.

Everyone who lives in a city wants at times to get into the country. The good road is the means. If there are no good roads, there is a sharp line drawn between city and country, which makes for the good of either.

The more good roads the more travel. The more travel, the more understanding of people by their neighbors, and the less possible is misunderstanding, strife, rivalry, or political discord.

Roads are a part of the foundation of Americanism. Let us all work to make that foundation broad and long and lasting.

ANNUAL OPEN SLAUGHTER SEASON

Now "wind the mellow horn," for the hunting season is again at hand and the yearly killing and maiming of men with guns is in progress. Not that the animals hunted are taking toll from their human foes. Dear no, we doubt if there is a man-eating rabbit left on the entire Western Hemisphere. Bulls on farms kill more men in a year than all the wild beasts on the continent slay in half a century.

But the hunters kill one another. Often they shoot themselves. Some veterans of the woods, men skilled in the use of rifles and in the lore of forests, dislike to take the chances in districts where deer are found, while the wild swarms with amateurs whose ignorance of all that hunters need to know is matched only by their ardent desire to bag large game.

Excited nimrods see something moving behind the underbrush and blaze away, regardless of the probability that it is a man. Or they hastily climb over a fence or fallen tree, dragging guns behind them and so shoot themselves or their companions. Sometimes they forget that their weapons are loaded and take liberties accordingly. In one way or another they furnish grim object lessons of the folly of putting guns in unfit hands.

Perhaps in the fullness of time, the authority of a parental state or province will so far interfere with the liberties of man-shooting hunters that a reasonable degree of skill and sanity in the use of fire arms will be required before men slay and be slain all, of course, with the best possible intentions.

WORK FOR COMING YEAR

The executive committee of the County Farm Bureau have made extensive plans for the annual meeting of the organization called for Saturday, Oct. 27, at South Paris Grange Hall. Arrangements have been made with the Strand Theatre management to show four reels of educational moving pictures beginning promptly at ten o'clock in the morning. The first picture is a two reel feature entitled "The Farm Bureau Comes to Pleasant Valley" and is played by farm people. Two other one reel features, "Laysers and Liers" and "The Happier Way" will follow.

At 11 o'clock the general session will open in the grange hall. President W. H. Conant of Buckfield will be in charge. The county leaders including Mrs. H. W. Starbird, clubs; A. L. Sanderson, crops; L. E. McIntire, dairy; E. A. Barker, farm management; T. E. Chase, orchard, and B. M. Clifford, poultry, will all be present to report on their respective projects. Twenty-one communities will have men and women delegates, so that the entire organization will be represented. The county programs of work for 1924 will be presented by County Agent Lovejoy and Miss Martha Sanborn, Home Demonstration Agent, with lantern slide pictures taken in the county by the agents themselves. Following this the county officers will be elected for next year. Many general business matters will be considered.

Dispersal will be served by Paris Grange at a reasonable charge.

RAMBLES ABOUT THE WEIRS, NEW HAMPSHIRE

Interesting booklets regarding the Winnepesaukee Lake country of New Hampshire are being published by Edgar Harlow Wilcomb of Worcester, Mass. The first of the series "A-1" has reached us and is entitled "Rambles About the Weirs." As the author's home was there he has woven into the story many early recollections, traditions and much history.

It is certainly interesting to those who are familiar with the scenes in that locality.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Now Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Washington, D. C.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation which a physician said I would have to have for a very bad case of female trouble. My system was all run down for two years after my little girl was born. Then I read of your wonderful medicine and decided to try it. I could hardly drag one foot after the other, and after taking six bottles of the Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I now do all my housework, also washing and ironing, and do not know what real trouble is. My health is fine, and I weigh 140 pounds. When I started taking it I weighed 97 pounds. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any one who is suffering from female trouble or is run down. You may use this testimonial for I am too glad to let suffering women know what the Vegetable Compound did for me."—Mrs. Ida Hayward, 1529 Penna. Ave. S.E., Washington, D.C.

Such letters from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Covered Wires Hide Cause

With regard to the other principal source of noise where dry batteries are used, namely, the breaking down of connections, this is a common but often unrecognized cause of trouble—not recognized for the reason that it generally cannot be seen because the wires which connect the cells are covered by sealing compound.

Dry battery connection are peculiarly liable to corrosion and it is important to remember that for a given voltage more dry cells are needed than storage battery cells, the former producing 1½ volts, the latter 2 volts, so that there are a comparatively larger number of points at which corrosion may take place when dry cells are used.

Dry batteries, however, are not entirely responsible for battery noises. These noises may be present, too, where storage batteries are used, but here they are the result of a different cause—external electrical leakage.

Advertising Man Sends Praise

Mr. W. H. Benson of Baltimore had considerable worry about his daughter. For over a year he was kept in anxiety, but it seems from the following letter that he and his daughter are both worry-free now:

"I have been talking about your Dr. True's Elixir. It is great stuff! The Elixir is doing good work for my daughter; please send us two bottles. Yours for health—W. H. Benson."

Scores and scores of such letters show us that Dr. True's Elixir has been most successful for use in relieving constipation.

Watch these symptoms: Constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, cramps, eyes heavy and dull, bad breath, all gone feeling, headaches. They may lead to more serious conditions—bad colic, grippe, etc. To ward off or make attack light, take Dr. True's Elixir. 40c, 60c, $1.20.

THE KU KLUX KLAN AS REFORMERS

By Fred M. Davis.

At first thought to most of us the word Klan would mean an organization of notorious bandits, but from what little I have learned of the K. K. K. they are far different from what I suspected. It is like a man I met here in Norway who said he was not interested in movies. "Well, I said, 'Have you ever been?' "No," was his reply. He goes often now and owns up that he didn't know what a source they were of education.

I believe the K. K. K. is a band of reformers, trying to make people behave, to stop plotting against each other, to do things that the government will not try to do. We call this a free country today to our sorrow. There is danger sometimes in being good. It is like a man throwing open the portals of his home to all kinds of people, he soon finds out there is danger in being good.

When the late war broke out we found that a certain per cent. of people who have interests and take active parts in industry and worldly affairs were loath to stand up and fight for the country where we live.

And still we had another class who were willing to fight for something they wanted to gain for themselves, and so if we have friends, where are they?

That's what the true Klan is going to find out, whether the man that stands by your side is a friend or foe. The word Klan means something of a ruling power, something we must yield to and abide by.

The Klan bars no one from their midst whether Catholic or colored if they are willing to be men amongst men. Their plan is to unite the people regardless of color or creed, to make men be what they should be and walk together 'neath God's blue canopy.

They bar no one as far as his religion is concerned, that's not the idea, but and bring to light the true spirit that lies within him.

They should not be classed as Night Riders nor the Klan of old. Their covered faces is merely a form, their ideas are different and they are different. They are trying to stamp out the rank poison that lurks in our midst, that lurks about us unseen and to keep this good land of America your land and my land as it has been and always should be.

I have never met a member of the K. K. K., neither have I attended a Klan meeting, but for the sake of your child and my child who may have to take up arms and fight the hardest fought battle ever staged in this country, the time to start is to-day, to start fighting the plotter and the knave who seeks to rule or destroy the straight American or take from us God's own country, the place where we live. No law abiding citizen need have any fear of the Ku Klux Klan for they may prove themselves to be a power to preserve and save the nation. The mission of the true Klan is to have the people walk in freedom unmolested to-day and forever.

WORLD BIRD PROTECTION

A league is being formed to protect wild birds in all countries, with T. Gilbert Pearson, President of the National Association leading to the movement backed by scientific and conservation societies in nine countries.

There is no country in the world so thoroughly organized and has such advanced laws for bird protection as the United States, and many of our methods can be and doubtless will be adopted to meet European conditions.

Mr. Pearson, President of the International Committee, who has just returned from Europe, says, "Through southern Europe very little attention is paid to bird protection. This may be illustrated by the fact that in all of France in the year 1921 there were only sixty convictions for the violation of the bird laws. During the same period in New York State alone there were more than one thousand. In Hungary I was told that during the past year with all our thousands of bird killers in this country not one had been prosecuted."

In Italy I saw nets, traps and various cages used to catch small song birds for food. There is a vast traffic in the bodies of these little songsters in that country. In Rome I saw in cages small birds whose eyes had been blinded by red hot irons on the theory that in their darkness they would sing better and thus prove more effective decoys in alluring other feathered friends to destruction."

Almost everyone has a special cure for colds, and when a sufferer is found, these wise ones are always telling him how to cure it. Some of the cures are really good and some are not. We recently heard of a new one. It is simple and cannot do any harm to try it. It is reported to have worked satisfactorily in three cases recently, and here it is. In a cup of cold water put a half teaspoonful of ginger. Drink it all. Try the next time you think you have a cold started, and report if it is any good.

CREDIT TO THE MINISTER Too often do we neglect to give proper credit and commendation to the faithful ministers of our community. We seem to think they are receiving their reward and many times do we allow them to go through life with very few words of praise and appreciation for the splendid work they are doing. The preaching from the pulpit is not the only work the ministers are doing. They go about their pastoral work in a quiet manner visiting the sick, burying the dead and speaking words of encouragement and consolation to the brokenhearted.

They lend aid to the "down and out" who have escaped the attention of the laity. They are human just like anyone else. Give them a word of appreciation and see what effect it will have on them. Anyone who observes the splendid co-operation and unselfishness of our preachers cannot fail to have a higher regard and appreciation for them.

REDDING AND SHAGG POND Leavitt Robbins was home over the week end from his school in Mechanic Falls.

Leroy Bisbee of Rumford has been picking apples for Chester Andrews. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Richardson of West Paris called on her father, G. H. Rowe, Tuesday afternoon of last week.

Hazel Lapham of Rumford has been a guest of Myrtle Farnum this past week. Some men from away came Friday afternoon to go bird hunting. They are staying in Bennett & Fogg's camp at the pond.

Verna Redding spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Redding, from her school at Pine Tree Academy, Auburn.

D. H. Robbins and J. F. Redding have been busy the past week hauling their farm products to the Rumford markets. They both have Ford trucks.

Arland Farrar of West Sumner is picking apples and boarding at Wallace Andrews. Mr. Andrews sold his apples on the trees this year to Mr. Badger and Mr. Sloan of Lewiston, so they are hiring the men to pick apples, and all are boarding at Mr. Andrews'.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Barrett of Sumner Hill were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Robbins, Friday afternoon.

Virgil Rowe is overhauling his Ford touring car.

Mr. Eliza Cole has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Daphne Rowe, for a week past.

Heywood Club Notes

The Club correspondent wishes to correct an error in last report of meeting held at Mrs. Will Young's. You see she was the Milleville "chauffeur" not able to attend, and in gathering her notes neglected to ask about refreshments. And as baked sweet apples were promised—Mrs. Young knowing Mrs. Eleanor Buck's failings for same, as well as many others present,—your correspondent fortunately took it for granted that they were served. But it seems she missed another treat of ice cream and cake. Her turn to get even on Wednesday.

The Club is to hold a Hallowe'en party at Club House on Wednesday evening, Oct. 31st. Everyone who cares to participate in the fun must bring a Hallowe'en favor or joke done up in paper with some stunts written on it. These will be exchanged in the March and Circle and opened and stunts done thereby making much merriment. Dancing for the evening, with hot apple pie and ice cream on sale. Of course if all dressed as ghosts in the march they would be much more fun as no one could tell who was performing stunts. Let's all enter in.

Telephone Meeting

The annual meeting of the Tel. Co. on the Ridge and Milleville was held at the Club House Wednesday evening, Oct. 17, when the following officers were elected:

Pres.—Arthur C. Buck
Clerk—Fred Lovejoy
Treas.—Will F. Young
Directors—Arthur C. Buck, Harry Jackson, Spaulding Abbott, Nate Noble, Fred Noble, Frank Millett.

While the meeting was in progress Mrs. Arthur Buck assisted by the ladies of the Heywood Club made a fine oyster stew, which went to the right spot on such a chilly night. A nice variety of pastry made the tables look well and helped to top off with. Dunham fiddled with Eddie Jacobson at the piano and dancing followed. The surplus, cash of $27.70 after paying oysters, etc., was donated to the Heywood Club for use of Club house. Everyone went home happy.

Tell your troubles to some person, and you'll feel better; and the other fellow will feel worse.

STEERING BUSINESS SHIPS

Fred P. Mann is a drygoods merchant in Devil's Lake, North Dakota. He sells a half million dollars' worth of goods every year in a town of five thousand population. He has built his business from nothing. His capital has been intelligence, hard work and inspiration for any small town merchant who seeks to build a paying business on a sound foundation.

There are thousands of merchants who flop along without any definite aim except an instinctive desire to accomplish. These are the merchandising deviants. The ship that reaches port in time to win the cargo is one that is steered with a definite purpose and along a course thoroughly charted.

Mr. Mann frankly says his success is one of two things—sensible buying and spends more money on newspaper advertising than any small merchant in the United States. The answer is, he does more business than any small merchant in the United States.

Half the local merchants in small towns see in advertising nothing but typographical announcements. The money they waste in direct by mail advertising is astounding. There is not a skilled advertising man in the whole of the United States who uses a direct-by-mail advertising except as a supplement to the newspaper. Without the newspaper the rest is useless. If we did learn by the experience of others who have succeeded then we fall behind in the march of progress.

John Wanamaker, Marshall Field and Fred P. Mann are not fools. Hitch your wagon to a star, not a doubting Thomas.

NATIONAL HIGHWAYS

The great National Movement for improved road conditions has spread so rapidly and taken such strong hold upon the people in all sections and all walks of life that it is rapidly becoming the greatest of a public economic questions and involves every man, woman and child of the United States.

Twenty years ago its advocates were laughed at and derided as cranks. Today those same men are looked upon as great public benefactors and recognized as national leaders.

Charles Henry Davis, now President of the National Highways Association, is one of them. All his life he has been interested in roads as were his father and grandfather before him. He saw the need of better highways and realized the advantages to be gained by concerted action and systematic works. His grandfather, Edward Morris Davis, of Philadelphia, was in the road construction business and formed a firm that was continued, first by his son, Henry Corbit Davis, and then by his grandson, Charles Henry Davis, who continued and enlarged it until his interest in National Road Building increased to such an extent that he gave up active business for the purpose of organizing the National Highway Association.

In retiring from the commercial construction of roads and devoting his entire time to the promotion of the works of the association, Mr. Davis foresaw that his motives might at first be misunderstood. It isn't often that a man abandons profitable private business for non-remunerative public service, but he drew with him into the work men of vast wealth and wide influence and aided by his own enormous fortune, soon had his association upon a sound business-like basis, fully prepared and equipped to handle big questions in a big way.

The first work of the association was to educate the people to a full understanding of their needs and inform them of the quickest and best means of obtaining relief. Headquarters were established at South Yarmouth, Mass., on Cape Cod, in a building donated for the purpose by President Davis. A full office force takes care of the large correspondence of the association, and maps of all the highways in the United States are on file, kept constantly up-to-date. Information on every subject relating to roads and road building is always on hand, ready for distribution, and a publicity campaign is conducted the year round.

Pathfinding trips over the tentative system of highways proposed by the association, have been financed to the extent of 35,000 miles of travel. All attempts to develop roads by first building local roads have failed. Not until trunk lines were built was there any material advance in road building. These trunk lines brought about the desire for and building of the local feeder lines. Otherwise there was no need or reason for the existence of such local feeders. Branch railroad lines were built after the trunk lines were established—otherwise they could not have existed. It must be the same with roads.

While discrimination as between districts is neither wise nor fair, never the less if any should be favored by road building it is our farming and rural districts. They need roads more than the urban centers; and what is more, they need to build them. They cannot of themselves furnish the needed funds. How can they be given the roads they must have? How can this be done most quickly and cheaply? National Highways advocates claim that the rural districts will get their needed roads, from railroads and market towns to farms, more easily, quickly, and cheaply by the building of National Highways where the money is bound to go into politics and not into roads. National Highways advocates claim this because:

National Highways
Such a system of National Highways will establish trunk lines within the several States. This will relieve the States of their construction and maintenance, and likewise the counties and the townships and towns.

State Highways
Thus relieved, the States can, without increase of present appropriations, build more miles than now of other or secondary State Highways, thereby reaching more remote farming districts than are now reached. This will relieve the counties of their construction and maintenance, and likewise the township or towns.

County Roads
Thus relieved, the counties can, without increase of present appropriations, build more miles than now of other secondary County Roads, thereby still further reaching out into the more remote farming district. Such a system of county roads will likewise be the heavy traffic within their respective townships or towns. This will relieve the townships of towns of their construction and maintenance.

Township or Town Roads
And therefore, finally, thus relieved, the townships or towns can, without increase of present appropriation, build more miles than now of their lighter traffic roads and thereby reach those farming districts lying farthest from our market towns and railroads.

Fourfold System
By this fourfold system of roads there will be an impetus, as yet unthought of, given to road building throughout the nation. Authority and responsibility will be logically and economically divided and fixed without conflict arising. Uniformity and efficiency will be established. Standards of construction and maintenance will be raised. The entire nation will be given "Good Roads Everywhere" by a well balanced, connected system of National, State, County and Town Highways reaching out to the most remote parts thereof. They will be built in the shortest possible time and with the outmost economy. The money will get into roads, where it belongs, and the cost will be equitably distributed upon those communities best able to bear the burden. In other words, the farmer will thus get what he needs and what he wants. He cannot get this by any form of "Federal Aid." If he permits himself to be deceived he will find his money going into politics, "graft" and "corruption," and he will continue to wait in the "mud" for roads so vital to his well being!

The organization of the National Highway Association was for the purpose of combatting these very difficulties, and pointing out the better way for attaining permanent roads in every part of the country. President Davis is a big man, with a big brain, doing a big work. Through his efforts and liberality the association formed and maintains the Davis Library of Highway Engineering at Columbia University, New York, which contains the most complete collection of books and other printed material on roads in this country and also formed and helps maintain the Graduate course in Highway Engineering at Columbia.

Mr. Davis has always been an ardent advocate of National Highways construction and maintained at the expense of the National Government. He sees in this the only way whereby a uniform system may be obtained connecting alike rich and poor states, without extra taxation of the people. He was a pioneer in this movement and the opposition that first arose is rapidly being converted to his way of thinking. With the Federal appropriation now available it seems certain that his fondest dreams are soon to become an actuality.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT

Baby Huston of Canton was found guilty by the jury of keeping and depositing. According to the evidence her premises, within a short distance of Canton fair grounds, were searched on Aug.
25 by Sheriff W. W. Frothingham and Deputies Billings, Buck and Wheeler. A quantity of liquor, said to be moonshine, was found in bottles and in a keg. The respondent was seen walking away from a clump of bushes where the stuff was afterward discovered. A search of the house revealed empty containers smelling of alcohol according to the officers.
A handbag containing partly filled bottles, a tunnel and a handkerchief used for a strainer figured in the evidence against the respondent. She was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and costs with four months in the county jail. In default of payment six months was added to the jail sentence.

Fred Goodnow of Gilead was fined $300 plus costs and three months in the county jail. Six months additional in default of payment. The charge was possession and transportation of intoxicating liquor. This case resulted from a seizure and arrest made at Waterford fair.

Tony Peater of Rumford after pleading guilty to keeping and depositing, was sentenced to six months in the county jail and $300 plus costs.

Fred Dumas, for driving a car while intoxicated was sentenced to three months in the county jail.
George Savoy of Rumford retracted a plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to the charge of reckless driving. The affair occurred in Andover late in the evening when the respondent demonstrated the speed of a high powered automobile in the public highway. It was charged that the rapid driving in the darkness endangered many cars parked along the roadside especially in front of a dance hall, where patrons were coming and going. A fine of $50 and costs was imposed which was paid.

William A. Stover, aged 20, of Norway pleaded guilty to larceny and was sentenced to the Men's Reformatory at South Windham. Young Stover was represented by W. G. Conary who stated that the young man was left an orphan at five years of age, was placed in an Orphanage and enlisted in the navy in 1914, serving over three years. After his discharge he worked in the wheat fields in Canada and drifted to South Paris.
Last winter a rifle, revolver, etc. disappeared from W. H. Bucks shop which was closed owing to the proprietor's illness. In the course of time these articles appeared in the hands of Stover and were traced back to the respondent. During the past five months young Stover has made his home in the family of Frederick M. Davis at Norway while employed in the shoe factory. The past few weeks he has conducted an upholstering and repair shop on his own account and was doing well.

Andrew Snolan, Francis Berry, William True, John True, William Brian, Richardson all of Denmark, pleaded retracted and pleaded to guilty to malicious mischief. Each was fined $10 and a proportionate part of the costs. Paid and discharged. This was the result of moving a small building owned by Charles O. Wood, during an escapee Fourth of July night, in spite of warnings given by the owner.

August Pickard of Rumford was found guilty of illegal possession of liquor and sentenced to five months in the county jail and $500, in default of payment six months additional. The charge against Pickard was that a gallon can of alcohol was found concealed in his garage with intent to sell. County Attorney Hugh Hastings represented the state and A. E. Stearns was for the respondent.

Lester Frazer, charged with adultery was sentenced to six months in the county jail and $300, three months additional in default of payment.

Melvin Titus formerly of Oxford was found not guilty of attempt to commit larceny. William L. Mayberry of Oxford, the complainant testified to investigating a noise near his hen house in the early hours of July 1 and saw a man apparently prying off a screen on the poultry house. Mr. Mayberry called out and received a reply after which the strange man ran to the road, and drove away in an auto. Mr. Mayberry recognized the voice of Melvin Titus. A few minutes later the auto returned and in the car were Mr. Titus and Bob Pratt of Auburn and words passed between the two. Looking over the premises by daylight Mr. Mayberry found a screw driver near the spot where the car stopped.

Mr. Titus' testimony was to the effect he and Robert Pratt were coming from Fryeburg, and reaching the Mayberry place Pratt got out and stepped over the wall. Not returning at once Titus said he whistled and went in search of him.
Wandering around he encountered Mr.
Mayberry at the poultry house. He denied any conversation there, he admitted talking in the road near the car.
He also denied meddling with the screen.
It was shown in the testimony, the two men in the car had been drinking more or less cider. Alton C. Wheeler appeared for Mr. Titus.

N. Clifford Hedges retracted his plea and in the lower court to guilty of assault and battery. He paid a fine amounting to $5.00 and costs.

Henry P. Richards retracted his plea in a lower court, and pleaded guilty to intoxication. Sentence was $5.00, the costs being the total to cover fine.

John Gausis pleaded guilty to posses-ing a still and other charges. He was sentenced on one count to four months in jail and $300 fine, or three months additional. The other cases were filed.

Frank Guest, aged twenty-three, of Seabrook, retracted his plea made a few days before and pleaded guilty of rape.
County Attorney Hastings stated that the respondent was guilty of statutory rape, but the girl, while not quite fourteen, the age of consent, has physically the appearance of being two or three years older. He stated there was no question of force, the girl giving full consent. A minimum sentence of one year in jail was imposed. Alton C.
Wheeler addressed the court in behalf of the respondent.

Clay of Rumford retracted and pleaded guilty in two liquor cases.
He was given three months in jail and fined $500, with six months in addition in failure to pay fine.

Fred Gamache of Rumford for operating an automobile while intoxicated retracted this morning's plea.
John Birmingham, Rumford, pleaded guilty of being a common drunkard. He was sentenced to sixty days in jail.

Frank Wagnis, Rumford, pleaded guilty to liquor cases and was sentenced to pay a fine of $400 and six months in jail, six months additional in default of fine.

Percy Smith of Paris pleaded guilty to forgery in raising several cash pay checks was sentenced to one year in jail and costs. This sentence was suspended during good behavior and he was allowed to go. Alton C. Wheeler, counsel for the defendant, explained that protracted illness in the defendant's family as the reason for his desire for additional money. A restitution has been made.

Charles F. Brackett of Norway was sentenced to two months in jail for driving an auto while intoxicated.
Benedetto Guzzoni of Rumford appeared on the charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated. Evidence for both sides was heard after which the case was not pressed on a plea entered by County Attorney Hastings.

George O. Hill, a farmer in Norway, pleaded guilty to single sale. A sentence of $100 and costs with three months in jail and three months more in default of payment was imposed. This was suspended during good behavior.

Henry Bennett of Hartford retracted and pleaded guilty to possessing a still and mash after the state's evidence had been presented. A sentence of four months in the county jail and $300 in failure to pay fine and costs.

According to the state's evidence, a can containing mash, and coils leading to a large bottle were found in active operation by A. C. Merrill on his farm in Hartford. A man's cap on the bottle was the evidence of the still in operation. State's witnesses identified the cap as one similar to one worn by the respondent, but would not say that the particular article belonged to Mr. Bennett. Witnesses repeated an alleged conversation reflecting more or less on the respondent's connection with the still and business. A quantity of fluid, said to be alcohol, found in the large bottle was put in evidence along with the equipment. Matthew McCarthy, attorney for the defendant offered no testimony on the stand.

Thomas Hammond of Rumford was found not guilty of single sale and was discharged. The case was brought on complaint of Joseph McLean of Rumford who alleged that he purchased one-half pint of alcohol of the defendant at Paradise Pool Room on May 15. Hammond was tending the place during the proceedings. He testified that when the alleged sale was made, the stuff was turned over to Deputy Sheriff E. J. Roderick of Rumford within a short time after the alleged purchase and charges were preferred.

Albert Bellevue, representing the defendant, offered witnesses to show that transactions were made at this time, and the liquor turned over to the deputy could not have been purchased as the state witnesses testified. This was a general denial of circumstances. A question of revenge on the part of the complainant was introduced by Mr. Bellevue to show a motive for changing the respondent with the transaction.

A Tribute from Justice Cornish
The jurors were discharged Monday afternoon. Justice Cornish thanked them for their excellent service and sound judgment. The Justice emphasized the importance of jury duty. All selected for that duty should accept the honor as one phase of good citizenship. Only the best should be chosen to uphold the ideals of justice in our Maine courts. Many serve with a personal sacrifice, and this instead of being considered a burden, should be looked upon as the best gift to his Commonwealth, and one of which to be proud.
Sheriff W. O. Frothingham and his deputies were highly complimented for their active work into have brought so many law breakers to account. Justice Cornish deeply appreciated Sheriff Froth-ingham's honest efforts to clean up Oxford County, and stated that the county should congratulate itself for this administration of justice.

How work out into the criminal cases
by County Attorney Hugh W. Hastings and the successful presentations in court were points upon which Justice Cornish spoke feelingly. "Oxford County should be proud of a County Attorney with the record made out into the country newspapers from all over the United States.
"There is not a paper of any consequence in our trade territory that we do not get," he stated. "This bureau looks over all these papers carefully and
whenever we find a town where the merchants are not advertising to any great extent in their local papers, we immediately flood their territory with our literature. This always brings results that are far in excess of those obtained by the same effort put forth in territory where the merchants advertise."
The Sporting Goods Gazette, in commenting upon this statement points
out that:

STOP MAIL ORDER HOUSE COMPETITION

Here is Something of Interest to Every Merchant Who Desires of Keeping Home Money at Home.

An executive of one of the largest mail order houses in the country recently declared that his firm had one bureau employing several persons whose duty it is to read every week the country newspapers from all over the United States.
"There is not a paper of any consequence in our trade territory that we do
not get," he stated. "This bureau
looks over all these papers carefully and
whenever we find a town where the
merchants are not advertising to any
great extent in their local papers, we
immediately flood their territory with
our literature. This always brings results that are far in excess of those obtained by the same effort put forth in
territory where the merchants advertise."
The Sporting Goods Gazette, in
commenting upon this statement points
out that:

"This presents an unanswerable argument in favor of the retailer advertising regularly in his own local newspapers.
The mail order bugaboo has long been a thorn in the side of the legitimate retail business, and if they follow the plan as above described it is only natural to presume that the other, large mail order houses have bureaus of a similar nature.
"As a matter of truth, he virtually tells us that the best way we can beat the mail order bugaboo is for us to advertise regularly. Such a statement, coming from a man in his position, hardly needs be further emphasized."

VACATION ON HOME FARM

Conductor Fred C. Sanborn of the Lake Shore, which is a link of the Boston and Maine R. R. is having a vacation at his farm in Brighton. Maybe the farm is his wife's as it was the old home of the Libbys, and his wife was a Libby. It is a splendid farm home with all modern conveniences. We called there recently and were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Sanborn and a large party of friends, including his brother, Oscar Sanborn, wife and family of Lakeport, N. H., who were accompanied by Mr. Rublee of the same town.

The latter was once a printer and learned his trade in the same office we did, only more recently. In our day, 52 years ago, the name of the paper was "The Lake Village Times," but when he was there it was called "The Belknap Republican." It was the same old office with hand press and foot power treaders.

The Libby farm, or as it is now called, the Sanborn place, is one of the prettiest located farms in the state. The better land lays out doors. It was the ancient Ingalls homestead. A long sweep of New Hampshire mountains is seen in all their beauty and grandeur.

Fred Sanborn of Lakeport, N. H., commenced work as "chore boy" to the Montreal, Norway, Concord and Portland and operated it as picnic grounds for associate gatherings. Large parties coming by rail from all parts of New England gather there for all outings and shore dinners.

The Sanborns are expecting to stop on the farm the greater part of this month. They visited the Fryeburg and Worlds Fairs last week and are to go to Poland Springs at the close of their vacation they will return to their home in Lakeport, N. H., and Mr. Sanborn will resume his daily trips to Dover and return for the winter months.

UNCLE LEM'S SAYINGS

George M. Atwood has been county treasurer for a period of time "beyond which the memory of man runneth not to the contrary." He has performed his duties so faithfully and well that he carries off the honors of the whole corps of county officials. Long may his kite fly in the official breeze of old Oxford. A most wonderful thing has happened, Magnus has called at the White House and discovered that Cal Coolidge's wife is related to his wife. The reporters for the big newspapers were astonished at the tameness of Magnus when he came out. And Cal keeps on being mum. What next?—Uncle Lem.

EAST SUMNER

Llewellyn B. Heald

Llewellyn Benjamin Heald, who went to the C. M. G. hospital Tuesday of last week underwent a critical operation last Saturday morning and died the following evening.

Mr. Heald was a veteran of the Civil War, and while in the service at Gettysburg received a severe wound in his hip, from which he never fully recovered. He was a highly esteemed citizen, and for many years held the office of town clerk. Although having passed the age of four score he took a keen interest in current events, and encouraged his five grandchildren (all of whom attended high school) in their studies and sports. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Dennis Parlin with whom he lived, and Mrs. James Cobb who lives next door.

Mr. Heald was twice married, his first wife being Fannie Robinson of Peru and his second wife Ada Bonney of this town. He was an active member of the Grange and of the Congregational Society, ever ready to lend a helping hand in every good cause. He was a man of very pleasing personality and will be greatly missed by the community.

A reception was given Rev. and Mrs. Houghton at the vestry Friday evening. The evening was passed merrily with games and sociability. A treat of assorted confectionery was served. W. H. Eastman welcomed the pastor and his wife to the community and the church, to which Mr. Houghton feelingly responded. Mrs. Kalponen sang a solo in Finnish, which was heartily applauded. Prof. Charles F. Meserve of Squirrel Island was in town Saturday, calling on relatives and friends. He spends his winters in Raleigh, N. C.

Paul Chesley was kicked severely by a horse recently, but has recovered from his injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eastman and daughter Augusta, last Sunday partook of a delicious game dinner at Roger Eastman's.

The old fashioned chimney has been removed from Elizabeth Robinson's house and new ones built in its stead. Some of the boards round the chimney were badly charred, which showed the wisdom of making the change.

AMERICAN LEGION NATIONAL ESSAY CONTEST

The school children of Maine will compete with the children in the schools in other states in September to win the coveted prizes in the American Legion National Essay Contest on the subject, "Why America Should Prohibit Immigration for Five Years."

The National prizes are: First prize, $750.00; Second prize, $500.00; Third prize, $250.00. The State prizes in each state are: First prize, silver medal; Second prize, bronze medal; Third prize, a Certificate of Merit issued by National Headquarters of the American Legion. The cash national prizes will be used only towards scholarships in colleges designated by the prize winners.

All girls and boys between the ages of 12 and 18, inclusive, are eligible to enter this contest. Only one essay to a person, essays will not be over 500 words in length and only one side of the paper to be used. A margin of one inch must be allowed on either side of the paper and this should be neatly folded, not rolled. Spelling, penmanship and neatness will be considered in judging the winner and age will also be given full consideration. At the end of each essay, the following pledge must be signed: "I hereby pledge my word of honor that I have written this essay myself. I am . . . years old." Pledge will be signed by writer of essay, followed by street address, town, and date essay was completed.

The local school authorities in each town and city will name the judges in that town to select the three best essays written therein, all said essays to be in the hands of the judges before October 5th. Arrangements may be made so separate judges may examine the essays from each school or grade in places where there are several schools, and the best essay in each school can be turned over to the local judges to pass upon by October 5th, and the three best selected. The three best essays in each town or city in the county will be turned over to the county judges by October 12th, and from the essays placed before them, the county judges will select the one best essay in that county. The best essay selected in each county will be sent to the Department Headquarters of the American Legion not later than Nov. 1. The State Superintendent of Schools will be asked to select three judges who will be required to determine upon the three best essays of the sixteen submitted to them from the various counties in the State of Maine. These state judges shall select the essays as first, second, and third, and all three essays shall be forwarded to the National Americanism Director of the American Legion, Indianapolis, Indiana, not later than midnight of November 15th, 1923, to be judged for national honors and the three national prizes, in competition with the 3 best essays from the rest of the 47 states.

In conducting an Essay Contest for American school children, The American Legion is fulfilling one of its many duties, namely the promotion of interest in patriotism among the younger generation and the foster of education.

American Legion posts throughout the state will cooperate with school authorities in every way possible to have the State of Maine children enter enthusiastically into the contest. During the past year many Legion posts have offered various prizes for essay contests of a local nature, but as the present one is national in its scope and offers exceptional prizes, keen interest is liable to develop.
